

Iron

Fe

26

Discovered in approx 3500 BC

Not known who discovered the element

Iron plays a vital role in oxygen transport throughout the body

The name of iron comes from the Anglo-Saxon
name 'iren'.

Iron is used more than any other metal in the world, making up about 95% of the world's metal production