

Iridium

Ir

77

Discovered in 1803

Discovered by Smithson Tennant

Iridium is the most corrosion-resistant
material known

The name is derived from the Greek goddess of the rainbow, Iris

It was used in making the standard metre bar, which is an alloy of 90% platinum and 10% iridium.